

Welcome to NetWorld+Interop Las Vegas 2003!

On behalf of everyone involved with NetWorld+Interop, I want to thank you for helping make this year a great success—and to invite you to join us next year. Yes, believe it or not, we're already planning for 2004.

Now more than ever IT buyers need up-to-the minute information so they can make informed business decisions. NetWorld+Interop Las Vegas 2004 will provide this information by showcasing the possibilities available in the incredible and undiminished creativity of the networking industry.

This show continues to be the definitive, content-based, face-to-face technology networking event, bringing together IT, networking, and telecommunications professionals who share perspectives, evaluate new technologies, and plot the path to the future of the networking marketplace.

In 2004 we continue our unprecedented pricing options. There will be something for everyone and every budget, so put our team of dedicated professionals to work for you.

You should also consider exhibiting at COMDEX Fall 2003 as well. For almost 25 years COMDEX has been synonymous with cutting-edge technology. In fact, more than 400 new products were introduced last year alone. At COMDEX Fall 2003 we will once again host thousands of the most empowered buyers in the industry—all looking for the business-transforming solution they need. Make sure you're there to give it to them.

Again, I thank you for your business and ongoing support of NetWorld+Interop. Your participation is essential to the success of this event.

Sincerely,

Jane Doe
